Championing the Arts in North Georgia

Minutes of Monthly Meeting Held January 14, 2014

The meeting was called to order at 7:00 by Kim Scruggs after a 30 minute opportunity to have refreshments and visit with other members and Somerby staff in the small parlor adjacent to the living room downstairs. Approximately 20 people attended. Susan McLean introduced Camille Ronay, owner of Georgia Made, Georgia Grown. It was a relaxed presentation with Camille sharing about her experiences through the years with art festivals in Georgia throughout the past thirty years- and how they have grown in sophistication and quality of work starting with a small, local Piedmont Art Festival which has gained national recognition. A short business meeting followed. Dues were collected and several new members joined our group. The participation in and delivery of paintings to the Alpharetta Library was exceptional, being installed on January 13. January 25, 10:00-12:30 our members can submit three paintings to the Roswell Fine Arts Alliance, 9100 Fouts Rd., Roswell, in anticipation of having a work or works accepted in their invitational juried show. Those works not accepted can be retrieved the following day, Sunday. Our members who are interested in submitting work for the Somerby Show may deliver several pieces on Tuesday, Feb. 4th. Time for delivery to be announced. Several members shared some of their latest work with the group. The meeting was adjourned about 9:15.

Respectfully Submitted
