From my earliest memory I have shared my life with a succession of dogs, cats, birds, horses, fish, bunnies or any other form of wildlife that may have strayed near my home. I understood that all creatures have truly unique expressions and personalities. Most of my time was spent riding horse-back in the pinewood forest of South Georgia.

I graduated from Georgia Southern University majoring in Industrial Engineering with a minor in Art Design. My passion for art and animals never faded as my family grew on a small horse farm in Alpharetta Georgia. As an oil painter, I strive to bring my subjects to life on canvas, creating mood through natural compositions and subtle expressions. I feel honored to spend my days with these amazing creatures and hope that you enjoy your time with them as well.
